Poland's capital, Warsaw, hosts many Christmas markets, but perhaps the best is held in the Old Town, close to the Barbican. Krakow is home to Poland's most well-known Christmas market, held in the Rynek, the city's magnificent central square, from the end of November until late December. Here there's a huge variety of excellent food on offer, from Kielbasa sausages to more adventurous fare like Pajda Ze Smalcem – a rich and tasty pork lard spread on toast, served with onions and pickles. Don't miss the Szopki, traditional handmade structures depicting the nativity scene, using local buildings as the backdrop.
